

NEW YORK'S LOSS ONCE MORE

WEAK BALL PLATING IN EVERY RESPECT THE CAUSE.

Philadelphia Have an Old-fashioned Picnic. The Other Leagues Games Are Won by Brooklyn, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Cincinnati—Other Games.

The New Yorks were weak in hitting, fielding, and pitching yesterday, and the Philadelphia played worse with them. The Brooklyn won a hitting game from the Washingtons, and the Baltimore, with young Pond in the box, came within an ace of whitewashing the Boston. Pittsburgh defeated Louisville again, Chicago settled St. Louis, and Cincinnati got away with Cleveland. The results:

Philadelphia 14; New York 8; Brooklyn, 12; Washington, 8; Baltimore, 9; Louisville, 8; Chicago, 9; St. Louis, 4; Cincinnati, 7; Cleveland, 4.

PHILADELPHIA, 14; NEW YORK, 8.

The management of the New York Club fully realizes that the team is weak. In the pitching department, and efforts will be made at once to strengthen it. As regards Riddle it is barely possible that the case may be fixed up, as it is understood that an agent of the pitcher has made two distinct propositions to President Freedman within the last forty-eight hours.

It will not be at all surprising, too, to see a big shake-up in the make-up of the team before the present week ends. It will be said that Feller will be probably retained, but his position is about as bad as his. He will be placed on second base. This will move Gleason probably to third, George Davis and Connaughton supplementing, possibly, the veterans Van Hasselt and Mulligan. No official announcement has been made, it is nevertheless a fact that Irwin is dissatisfied with his team, and that he will shake men around until he can put a winning combination.

Yesterdays game between Irwin's men and the Philadelphians was simply most discouraging. There were 2,000 persons present when play was called, but after three innings fully half of them had gone. The Philadelphians Meekins pitched the first three innings, and he should not be too harshly criticized. Although both teams were given a chance to score, he was not expected, until a couple of runnings errors let the Quakers get a chance to hit him hard enough so that they did not have to score runs enough to beat him.

The slaughter in the third inning was chiefly due to kid Gleason and George Davis. Nash, the right fielder, was the right man for the seats for a home run. Taylor struck out, and Sullivan's grounder was fumbled by Gleason. The Philadelphians' bats were silent, and their pitcher, Sullivan scoring, and when Brummers was hit by a pitch, the ball was fumbled, to the right fielder, to the right fielder, who could not find it in time to throw it, instead of sending it in the air, to the center fielder, instead of sending the ball to second for an easy double play, and what was worse, Wilson dropped the throw from the center fielder, and when Hallinan got to first on balls, and Nash got in a double bagger, and Taylor a single, nine runs had been scored.

Seymour replaced Meekins in the fourth inning, and, having seven bases on balls, he did well, but was given a chance to show a man a man if Farrell could come in. Wilson failed to courage him or show him where to put the ball, and his course was "in the hole" most of the time. The result was, he was given a chance to show quite a pitcher, and the chances are that he will be regularly rewarded with Feller to hand him.

He who played without an error for the second successive time, George Davis and Connaughton, the only two new players who could gauge him at all, at the others' likeability in the big Staten Island boy's hands. The New Yorks were slow in their fielding, Wilson's catching being far below his usual standard. The score:

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22.—WASHINGTON, 8.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Today's game was very interesting, both teams playing a good game winning through better hitting and McGinnies' liberality with bases on balls. Capt. Joyce was hit in the head, and was compelled to retire in the second inning and was replaced by another. A great "knock-out" was indulged in by both sides over Riddle, and the wrangling was of such frequent occurrence that only six innings were played. President Young of the New York Club, who was present at the protest of President Stuyk of Louisville to Umpire Weldmen's work at Pittsburgh yesterday, was present. President Young wanted Weldmen details elsewhere, but Mr. Young has decided not to change his schedule, and has lost confidence in Weldmen. Attendance, 2,000. The score:
